

2024 PLT-WET-WILD ANNUAL CONFERENCE

MAY 13 - MAY 17
SAN ANTONIO, TEXAS

EXHIBITOR PACKAGE

GAIN EXCLUSIVE ACCESS TO EXPERTS IN ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION & PROFESSIONAL DEVELOPMENT

Connect and engage with over 200 state and national representatives of Project Learning Tree, Project WET, Project WILD, local Texas natural resource professionals, and other environmental education partners and professionals. Together, we are leading the way in nature-based education, environmental literacy, and career pathways reaching over 30,000 educators annually, who reach an estimated 2.5 million students per year.

As leaders in environmental education and professional development, these incredible individuals work with and for schools, districts, government agencies, and nonprofits across the U.S. and world.

This is your opportunity to connect with a growing network, passionate about educating and nurturing the next generation of green leaders and environmental stewards.

Get ready to foster new relationships, identify potential partnerships, and share your resources and services!

“Now more than ever quality conservation and environmental education is imperative to prepare [youth] for the complex problems that our communities and natural resources face both now and in the future. Project Learning Tree is a powerful program which provides relevant, appropriate, nonbiased curriculum as well as a robust network of professional experts – all helping educators and youth develop their own relationships with the nature in their neighborhoods. As a student, I experienced PLT activities and am so inspired by connecting [students] – our future landowners, leaders, and voters – to our shared natural world.”

– Jack Hilgert, Conservation Education Coordinator, Nebraska Forest Service
