

SUSTAINABILITY MANAGER

GREEN JOB FACT SHEET

Sustainability managers ensure that organizations set and meet environmental goals, adhere to environmental standards, and minimize environmental harm. They make sure that organizations' business practices are economically, socially, and environmentally sustainable. Their job is to ensure that people and the planet prosper now and in the future.

THE BIG PICTURE

Sustainability managers promote environmental protection and social responsibility, while also maintaining profitability, by:

- Developing sustainability plans to help organizations conserve energy, use resources wisely, and manage waste.
- Ensuring that organizations comply with environmental, health, and safety regulations.
- Keeping current on the latest sustainability trends, products, and certifications.

IS THIS CAREER RIGHT FOR YOU?

Sustainability managers must be organized and must enjoy multi-tasking. They lead teams, coordinate among departments, and communicate with internal and external stakeholders. To succeed in this job, you need an analytical mind to identify problems and research solutions.

MOVING FORWARD

Here's a path of study that could lead to a career as a sustainability manager. You'll likely need a four-year college or even a graduate degree.

HIGH SCHOOL: Focus on environmental science, biology, chemistry, engineering, and economics. Volunteer for environmental initiatives in your area to gain hands-on experience.

COLLEGE: Earn a bachelor's degree in business, environmental science, environmental management, engineering, or sustainability. Consider earning a master's degree in environmental policy, economics, or business administration.
