ENVIRONMENTAL FILMMAKERS tell stories through film that show people different points of view on a topic or theme. These films can help to increase people's understanding of and feelings for nature.